

Government Activities Committee (Part of PACE)

Joe Kalasky, Member

The Government Activities Committee (GAC) is charged to help coordinate regional and state government affairs activities with the IEEE U.S. Regions 1-6, and to encourage grassroots member support of IEEE-USA's national legislative efforts.

CARE - Congressional Advocacy Recruitment Effort

Calling All IEEE Members! Click To Join CARE Now

In 2004 over 2,000 American IEEE members contacted their elected officials on behalf of their profession. In 2005, IEEE-USA needs you to join them.

CARE is a voluntary network of IEEE members who are interested in public policy. Each year Congress and state legislatures debate hundreds of bills that could, if passed, directly impact technology engineers. From promoting broadband to regulating our electrical grid; from funding basic research to providing scholarships to engineering students, the legislative decisions impact engineers' careers in an unlimited number of ways.

CARE gives you an opportunity to influence your legislator's decisions before bills become law. By joining CARE you are giving IEEE-USA permission to contact you when legislation affecting you is being considered. When necessary, IEEE-USA will send you Legislative Action Alerts containing information on what's being discussed, how it will affect technology engineers, and what you can do about it. We then give you an opportunity to quickly make your views known through an e-mail system that automatically links you to your state and federal legislators.

CARE members are not obligated to respond to Action Alerts sent by IEEE-USA. The Alerts just tell you what is happening. Doing something about it is your decision.

Joining CARE is easy. Just go to our Legislative Action Center and sign in using your IEEE web accounts log-in. (If you have not activated your Web Account, click here.) All you have to do is respond to one of our active Action Alerts, and you will automatically listed as a CARE member. As new Alerts are posted, you will be notified by e-mail and given a easy way to respond.

This site is designed to help American IEEE members coordinate public policy initiatives across state and section boundaries. It is managed by the IEEE-USA Government Activities Committee, which has been tasked with affecting legislative decisions in Washington D.C. and all 50 state capitals.

Contact:

Russell T. Harrison r.t.harrison@IEEE.ORG

Legislative Representative - Grassroots Affairs

IEEE-USA

(202) 530-8326 Tell'em Joe sent you!

IEEE U.S. Government Activities Committee

Join IEEE U.S. Government Activities Committee Forum

Updates and participation

To Join go to: communities@ieee.org

Some benefits of Online Communities are:

- Online collaboration and continued communication outside of in-person meetings and teleconferences.
- Networking opportunities
- Discussions on the latest technologies, vital issues, and IEEE activities
- Just-in time education for application on the job
- Access to technical experts and peers for question asking, advice, and problem-solving
- Peer review of work

Join other Forums of your interest !